SOME SUGGESTIONS FOR USING MEYCO'S CO-OP ADVERTISING PROGRAM

Objective

The purpose of Co-Op Advertising is to create an awareness level for your company and the services offered to individual pool owners. Meyco Products is willing to share the expense for ads that feature our safety covers along with your company name, logo, and description of services. Programs qualifying for Co-Op funds include newspaper ads, spot TV/Radio, direct mailings, and placements in local phone directory guides.

Responses to advertising programs can mean increased business in many areas. For example, one inquiry from a safety cover advertisement can provide you with opportunities to discuss openings & closings, regular service calls, chemical sales, and equipment sales to name just a few.

Timing & Frequency

Many pool dealers wait until late Summer or early Fall before they begin advertising safety covers. Although pool owners are definitely in the market, the overall rush to deliver covers on time limits the effectiveness of placing ads only at this time.

Early Spring is an excellent time to start advertising safety covers since it coincides with pool openings that include the removal and inspection of existing covers. Any unpleasant experiences during the Winter are still fresh in the pool owner's mind and he is likely to be more receptive in considering the purchase of a new cover. However, bear in mind that this initial interest will start to decline as the swimming season progresses.

Late Spring and early Summer offer opportunities to advertise covers as a "reminder" to avoid delays which can occur during the height of the Fall closing season. Meyco features its "Make & Hold" program which is designed specifically for this purpose.

Advertising for the Fall closing season is best scheduled from mid August through Labor Day. This interval should provide ample time to follow up on inquiries and effectively schedule any closings that will require the installation of a new safety cover. After Labor Day, most pool closing dates are basically determined by when the cover will be delivered. An early advertising program can help alleviate this situation.

Remember that running the same ad for 2-3 consecutive weeks will generate more exposure and response than a single "one time" placement.
